SATURDAY, JAN. 11, 1867.

RADICAL RECONSTRUCTION.—The following telegraphic dispatches, which appear in the Sac. Union, show a few of the many like beauties of the reconstruction policy of the present Radical Congress.

The Herald's special says it is estimated that three millions of whites and blacks in the Southern States are in a starving condition.

The Times' special says Gen. Howard thinks Congress will have to provide relief for destitute people in the South by giving a distribution of food, the cost to be secured by a lien upon the crops.

Negro depredations continue in the interior. A large military force will be needed to prevent a rising. The military quickly disbanded a large assembly of armed negroes at Jackson.

Saturday's special says that throughout many counties in Virginia a reign of terror prevails. The freedmen have become desperate and tired of waiting for the promised distribution of lands. They are seeking revenge in burning houses, stealing cattle and other outrages.

Great alarm exists in several counties in North Carolina on account of assaults by armed blacks upon unoffending whites. Prompt measures are said to be necessary to restore quiet.

CASSERLY'S ELECTION.—A dispatch to the S. F. Times, dated New York, Dec. 28th says: The election of Eugene Casserly has created great enthusiasm, and the press, without distinction of party, refer to it in a highly complimentary manner. The Manhattan Club assembled on Saturday evening last, over one hundred and fifty of our most distinguished citizens being present. The President, Augustus Schell, amid great applause, sent to Mr. Casserly a congratulatory dispatch. Hon. Samuel J. Tilton, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and Charles O'Connor, responded on behalf of the absent Senator, and passed a high eulogium on him, referring to his great legal ability, irreproachable character, and his eminent fitness for the position conferred on him by his adopted State.

POTMAN'S MAGAZINE.—We have received from H. H. Bancroft & Co., the publishers for the Pacific Coast, the first (January) number of Potman's Monthly Magazine. If the first number is any criterion to judge by, we can safely predict for it a grand success. From the start it takes its place in the front ranks of the Monthlies. It is ably edited, neatly printed, filled with interesting reading matter, and will be a welcome visitor to all lovers of good reading. H. H. B. & Co. have the exclusive control of the Magazine on this Coast, and to them all orders should be sent.

ALTA CALIFORNIA ALMANAC.—We are indebted to the publishers, for a copy of the Alta California Almanac and Book of Facts, for the year 1868, containing a comprehensive and authentic calendar, eclipses of the year, election returns, treasure report, fall of rain, productions of Cal, tables of distances, Counties, their population, value of property, population and resources of Alaska, statement of the public debt, statistics, reports, etc., etc. Fred'k McCrellish & Co. are the publishers. Price, 50 cents.

STATE CAPITAL.—A bill has been introduced in the Assembly, by Hon. Mr. Giltner member from Mariposa, providing for the removal of the State Capital from Sacramento. The bill does not indicate the new location. As a matter of course the Sacramento papers are considerably exercised about the subject. The Sac. Union in referring to the removal question, closes the article as follows:

We are much in error if the majority of the members of the Legislature, after carefully counting the costs of the proposed removal, and considering the general bad influence of keeping the public institutions of the State upon wheels until they revolve to the Bay, do not give a final quietus to all such movements by a very decisive negative.

PUBLIC DOCUMENTS.—To Hon. James A. Johnson, Rep. in Congress from this District, we are under obligations for a number of Pub. Doc's received during the past week.

QUIRKY.—Died, at Indian Valley, December 29, 1867, Dr. Dick Smallbones, aged about 30 years.
"He is dead, the good physician!
He the best of all the doctors!
He has gone from us forever."

The defunct Doctor was still in the prime of life, and the citizens of Indian Valley were surprised to hear of his sudden departure for the happy hunting grounds.

"Should you ask me whence this story,
I should answer, I should tell you—
I repeat it as I heard it,
From the lips of a Mahala."

It had been hinted at and believed by a number of the first families of Indian Valley, that the Dr. had prematurely sent three or four of his patients

"To the regions of the homeward,
To the Islands of the Blessed,
To the Land of the Hereafter, either through ignorance, or with malice aforethought, and as they were still near here to provide chuck for their peepooes, flag the mahalas and play poker on Indian Sundays, "fall of wrath" were all the surviving relations, and to prevent the learned Doctor from further experimenting with "the deadly virtues of the healing art," they

"All conspired against the Doctor,
All conspired to murder him—
Yes, to rid the world of such a Doctor."

In pursuance of their deliberations, the expert physician received an invitation to spend an evening at the Big Sweat House, in the North Arm of Indian Valley. The Doctor had no suspicion of treachery, but in the innocence of his heart accepted the invitation as an honor justly his due, for

"Very boastful was the Doctor,
Never heard he an adventure
But himself had met a greater,"
and besides, the highly civilized and christian game called "poker," which is the chief amusement of the aborigines at their social gatherings, had a charm for him, and

"While they sat and played together,
All the old men, and the young men,
Played for dresses, weapons, wampum," the Doctor drew a "full" hand, "showed up" four bits, but before he could rake in the "pot" a proud, noble hearted son of a mahala

"Silently stole upon him,
Then sloth he swung his war club, [an axe]
Shouted loud and loud his war cry,
Smote the mighty Digger Doctor,

In the middle of the forehead,
Right between the eyes he smote him,
Thus was slain the Digger Doctor,
He the Doctor of the mountains,
He the terror of his patients," and his opponent quietly raked in the pot.

"Thus departed the great Doctor,
The big Medicine Man, the doctored,
In the darkness of the midnight,
In the darkness of the heavens,
To the regions of the homeward,
To the Land of the Hereafter."

The natives held an inquest, (generally known as a post-mortem) over the body, but could not agree upon a verdict. The Doctor's friends contended that his patients were killed by a dispensation of Divine Providence, and his enemies claim that they (the patients) were killed in consequence of the Doctor's stupidity. The defunct leaves two widows and several orphans to mourn his timely taking off. "Peace to his corpse!"
[ONE WHO KNEW HIM—TO HIS SORROW.]

A CATASTROPHE.—Chinamen are as fond of hog meat and chicken as full-blooded Carolinians are of possum and sweet potatoes, or Kentuckians of hog and ham. The Chinese New Year, the greatest feast for the Celestials, is close at hand, and as is usually their custom, they have commenced to provide for the coming holiday, by purchasing the necessary supply of pork and chickens. On Wednesday last, a Chinaman from Silver Creek came to Quincy, and purchased three live hogs, two dozen chickens, a supply of wheat, &c., and engaged our old friend, Jim Duesler to haul them up to Silver Creek. "Jim" procured a sleigh and four horses, with Deban for a driver, and, having "an eye to business," placed in the sleigh besides the Chinaman's truck, a couple of dozen chickens, 400 pounds of wheat, etc., which he intended to dispose of to the first Chinaman who would pay him his price, in cash, and started for the China settlement. Everything was lovely until they reached the first crossing of Spanish Creek, near the point of rocks. "Deb," drove into the stream and when the sleigh reached the middle the horses, with malice aforethought, no doubt for the sole purpose of drowning Duesler, stopped and refused to budge an inch. The current was swift and the water high, the sleigh box commenced to raise and so did Deban, who climbed to the back of one of the horses, for safety. Duesler sung out for assistance. "Deb," told him to "stick to the sleigh." The box rose to the surface, struck a stump and turned over, emptying hogs, chickens and wheat into the drink. Duesler managed to hold on to the box until the Chinaman, who was behind on a horse, came up and helped him out. The horses then started, and drew out the sleigh runners. The hogs and chickens were tied by the legs, and all were lost save one, which was hauled ashore by "Jim's" dog. The party, without waiting to see what became of the property, immediately started for home. They had a damp and uncomfortable ride, but finally reached town in safety. The Chinaman's loss is about $100, and Duesler's about $80. We are pleased to learn that the cold bath has nearly cured "Jim," of his rheumatism. It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

RESIGNATION.—We have it from good authority, that Mr. H. L. Gear has sent in his resignation, as Editor and Manager of the National, to the County Central Committee, and has requested them to appoint some other person to take the control of that office. The duties of the District Attorney's office, in connection with his other legal business, occupy so much of his time that he is unable to give that attention to editorial duties which is necessary. So says report, and in this instance it is doubtless correct. We also learn that the management of that paper has been offered to a gentleman who is unwilling to assume it unless the Committee will pledge themselves to him that he shall receive all of the Co. printing for the next year at full rates. We do not blame the gentleman referred to for wishing to secure this pledge, but the question is, will the Supervisors, Messrs. True & M. D. Smith be guilty of entering into such an agreement? Time alone will tell. In bidding an editorial good-bye to Mr. Gear, we—well, we reckon we had better wait until we know that he has retired, before we say any more.

NORTH FORK & VICINITY.—"Arminius," writing under date of January 2d, 1868, says:

The storms that prevailed in the forepart of Christmas week, will not easily be forgotten by any of the residents of this part of the country. Its recollection will form no mean part in their experiences of California mountain life, and will be the theme of many a tale for years to come, for even that somewhat mysterious and famed individual, the oldest resident, does not recollect to have experienced the like of it before. It began on Sunday, 22d. It had been raining steadily all day, even on the ridges. Towards evening, the wind rose, and soon raged with all the fury of a hurricane. It was terrible to listen through the live-long night to the roaring of the wind, mingled with the pattering of the rain, and to the crashing of the trees as they gave way before its fierce blasts, the whole scene momentarily illuminated by the fitful, lurid flashes of lightning. Trees that had withstood the storms of centuries bent like reeds, and were laid low by its resistless force, and on spots where it had a fair chance, it swept them down by hundreds. On Monday night we had a repetition of the scenes of the night before, and on Christmas afternoon we had another, and, so far, the last exhibition of the storm's destructive force. It must have done incalculable damage, to judge from what it done herabouts. It blocked up the trails in many places, destroyed ditches, carried off fences, and moved at Cariboo, Lamb's Saloon, bodily, the fore-part about three and the back part about fifteen feet from its original position, without injuring it much, otherwise. But a greater, a sadder loss we have to deplore—that of human life. Philip Knoll and Henry Wendling, who lived on the flat on the north side of the upper bridge feeding themselves not secure in their own cabin on account of the trees that stood near it, concluded to go on Monday night to another cabin that was not exposed to any danger in that regard. Crossing the bridge, they stopped for a moment at the cabin of Frank Knoll, which is close to it, and who also concluded to go with them. They were just ready to start again, Knoll standing outside the door, Wendling just inside, and Knoll behind him, when a tree came down upon the cabin, killing Knoll and Wendling instantly, and knocking Knoll senseless. How long the latter lay thus he has no idea. When he regained his consciousness, he was so bewildered, it took some time before he recollected what had happened. He was considerably hurt, but not dangerously. This calamity cast a gloom over the whole community. Knoll and Wendling were old residents of Cariboo, industrious, hard-working men, and highly respected by all who knew them. They were both from the Department du Bas-Rhin, France. They were decently buried in the same grave. Friends and partners in life, even death did not part them. May the sod rest lightly on them. It is a singular fact that their own cabin escaped unhurt, though the trees fell in all directions around it. Several other men had narrow escapes. A tree fell across the porch of George Mori's cabin, which is close to that of Knoll and Wendling. Mori was inside at the time, and in bed, but he and the cabin escaped without any further harm. On Sunday night one of the gusts of wind loft off bodily the roof of Gumbin's cabin, on Rich Gulch, while he and three other men were in it, and cast it in front of the house, without injuring any of them. But I suppose hundreds of such cases have happened, as the storm seems to have raged pretty generally all over the State. Of course our regular communication with "below" is cut off for a time, but, thanks to the indomitable energy of Gen. Wood, who is determined to keep the road open, it will not be long. The old General has long since completed his arrangements and is prepared for the winter campaign. He has four sleighs, as fine as can be found in the mountains, ready to out-flank that grim deposit, winter, whenever he tries to obstruct the line of communication with our base by his breastworks and banks of snow. But I see my communication has already been a lengthy, so no more for the present.

SPANISH LANCH & VICINITY.—A correspondent says: "We have not suffered badly from the late storms," although trees are laid scattered around like dead men on a battle field. Ditches and flumes have suffered, likewise dams and hydraulic pipes by snow-slides, landslides and little avalanches. Several of the Jacks Co's flumes have been prostrated and their ditches broken in several places. The new ditch of Esq. Metcalf has suffered badly. The new ditch of Jenkins & Co., on the Wahjoness, was damaged but little. They still are at work, and have often been compelled to lay over two days in all of the storms. Jenkins & Co. have struck in their tunnel (run into the Wahjoness hills) very rich dirt. John Colman, on the Blue Lead, has also excellent prospects, on the head of Quinn's Lake Ravine. O'Brien & Garrett have bought out Newt. Evans, at New Boston, and are fixing up their claims for winter drifting. Folsom and his men from the Mountain House district went below last week to remain for a short time. The miners in the Silver Creek District are doing well under the flow of water they have had from the late rains. Sanders & Co., on Grub Flat Ravine, are doing tolerably well, having plenty of water. Ham Brown & Bro., Morris Smith & Bro., and all the balance of the boys on and around Badger Hill, Gopher Hill, Curtis Point, &c., are doing remarkably well considering the standpoint from which they have heretofore looked at things generally. Not only in mining, but politically and intellectually, there is quite an improve ment around our section of country. John Ball, of Butterly Valley, I understand, has got into his new diggings, and is getting good pay, considering short days and high water. John Rogers is likewise doing well in Michigan Ravine. In fact, all who will work in old played-out Plumas, need not run very heavily in debt at boarding houses, or grub furnishing stores. I could name lots of places where miners could make "grub" with chances to do better, as there is lots of new ground in the immediate neighborhood of said diggings, and any amount of gravel hills yet unprospected. I understand that Tommy Taylor and Johnny Radley are making money on Radley's Point, near Grasshopper Valley. Your humble correspondent was a good prospect in Cedar Ravine, the late rains and a little work having developed a splendid deposit of gravel, with the color and bed-rock peeping. Equal to "Old Joe's" times. Mineral Township still wiggles in these hard times.

SNOW SHOE RACES.—We call attention to the advertisement of the Alturas Snow Shoe Club, published in another column. The races will commence on the 3d of February, and continue for four days. Purses amounting to $600 are offered by the Club. Several other purses will be given, and several match races will come off. The Secretary of the Club has not received any notice from Mr. F. Linn in regard to his acceptance of his challenge by the Club.

FROZE TO DEATH.—On Wednesday last the body of a dead Chinaman was found by the road side, a short distance from the junction of the Taylorville grade and the canyon road. When found the body was lying under some large bushes. It proved to be the corpse of a Chinaman named Hing, but generally known by the name of "Pete." He left Quincy on Thursday of last week, on horseback, to go to Taylorville. From one of the party who broke the trail over the mountain on Wednesday, we learn that on the grade near the summit, they found a saddle, and from the appearances they concluded that a horse had been tied to a tree near by for some length of time. Upon an examination of the body, it was found that the deceased had on but one boot. The supposition is that at the point above mentioned, he had got off the horse, and for some purpose took off one of his boots, and was unable to put it on again, and that he tied the horse to a small tree, and attempted to walk the balance of the way. He walked through the snow, which was from two to three feet deep, to the place where found, a distance of four or five miles, and being very fat and short-legged, he probably gave out, crawled under the bushes, fell asleep and never awoke. Deceased was considered a good Chinaman. He was a cook, and had resided in this county for several years. He had accumulated quite a fortune for a Chinaman, and was intending to leave for China during the present month. Nothing has been seen or heard of the horse.

GRANT.—The Sac. Union, in speaking of Gen. Grant, says:
He does not delude himself with theories, or blind himself to policies which prove to be as impracticable as they are unwise. That explains the reason why Grant has never publicly endorsed the policy of the Radical party, or assented to its theories.
Booth's Body.—Stanton, in his testimony before the Impeachment Committee, stated that he directed Booth's body to be interred under lock and key, to prevent any glorification by the disloyal over the assassins grave, and that at the proper time he supposed the remains would be given to his friends.

Perry Davis' Pain Killer.

Dyspepsia can be, and is cured every day by the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer. This is the most wonderful and valuable medicine ever known for this disease. Its action upon the system is entirely different from any other preparation known. The patient, while taking this medicine, may eat anything the appetite craves.

GENTLEMEN: It is with pleasure that I recommend the use of your Pain Killer. It is all that is required of it. In a household it is invaluable. I have used it in my family for the last three years, and at all times found it a sure cure for cholera morbus, pain in the stomach, diarrhoea, and all such complaints. I have always found it specific. No family should be without it in the house.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES HOLMES, DeGraff, Ohio.

New Jersey abounds in cranberries, and the last year's crop of that fruit is estimated at 40,000 barrels. A great deal is raised in meadows which a few years ago were impenetrable swamps.

SLEIGHING.—The sleighing in American Valley during the last week, has been excellent.

THANKS.—To Hon. J. Conly, and Hon. J. R. Buckbee, for Pub. Docs.

MAPPING.—Mr. Keddle is engaged in making a map of the Feather River Wagon Road Route.

REBUILDING.—The bridge between Taylorville and Genesee is being rebuilt by the citizens of Taylorville.

WHITNEY.—The Whitney mill will commence crushing quartz again next week. The Co. are taking out some very good rock.

CALEDONA.—The Caledona mill at Cherokee cleaned up $2,500 for last weeks run.

CRESSENT.—The Crescent mine is still filled with water, and the mill is laying idle for the present.

SKATING.—The freezing over of the ponds has given the "skaters" an opportunity to indulge in their favorite sport.

KILLED.—A man by the name of Doan was killed at St. Louis, during the late storm, by the falling of a tree.

Snow Slide.—The house of Eaq. Lloyd, at Port Wine, was smashed in by a large snow slide, one day last week. Mrs. L. was slightly injured.

KILLED.—An Indian Valley correspondent gives us an account of the killing of an Indian Valley Indian. The article is published elsewhere, under the heading of "Obituary."

SMASHED.—A tree was blown across the new dwelling house of C. H. Lawrence, in Big Meadows, making a wreck of the building, and smashing things generally. So says the Record.

KITTLE.—Judkins & Kellogg have an abundance of water, are running all the stamps, the roads are in good condition, the mine free from water, and the quartz paying handsomely.

FERRY.—Messrs. Laswell & McGinness give notice that they will apply to the Board of Supervisors, at the meeting in February next, for a license to run a ferry across Indian Creek in Indian Valley.

To SETTLE.—Co. Treasurer Price started below on Tuesday last for the purpose of making his semi-annual settlement with the State Treasurer. The amount due the State at this settlement is about $16,500.

ICE.—Edwards of the Plumas House, and Smith & Perine are building an ice-house near the pond on the Illinois Ranch, which they intend to fill with ice for their use during the summer.

FOR TRIAL.—Two nymphs du pare, of La Porte, have been bound over to appear at the March term of the County Court, on charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to each other.

GOT RELIGION.—The Record States that Dick Garland reports that "a camp-meeting was held on the La Porte route during the storm, and that the proprietor of that line and his drivers experienced religion. Let us sing.

LODGE MEETINGS.—The regular meetings of Plumas Lodge, No. 63, F. & A. M., will be held on the following evenings in 1887: Jan. 11th, Feb'y 8th, M'ch 8th, April 11th, May 9th, June 6th, July 4th, Aug. 8th, Sep. 5th, Oct. 3d and 31st, Dec. 31st.

PRANKING.—A correspondent of the Banner of Progress, states that "three adults and one infant" constitute the entire audience at a meeting in this place a few Sundays since. That was true, but a raging storm prevented a larger assembling. Usually the meetings are well attended.

OFFICERS EJECTED.—Olive Branch Encampment, I. O. O. F., located at La Porte, has elected the following officers:

J. G. Boring, C. P.; D. W. Barns, H. P.; E. R. Babcock, S. W.; Dixon Brabben, Scribe; S. S. Russell, Treas.; B. T. Paine, J. W.

Alturas Lodge, No. 80, has elected the following officers: S. S. Russell, N. G.; L. W. French, V. G.; E. R. Babcock, Sec'y; B. W. Barns, Treas.

IMPORTANT.—The Supreme Court has decided that mortgages, mining claims, growing crops and all property of like character which has heretofore been exempt, is subject to taxation. The increase in the assessment on property in this county will, by reason of the above mentioned decision, be nearly double that of last year, hence the Supervisors should reduce the rate of taxation for county purposes.

NOT THE ONE.—A correspondent of the Butte Record states that the body recently found at Thompson's Flat was not that of Dan Hatter. He says: "The body had been brought down the river by the high freshet, and was entirely nude. Two bullet holes were in his left thigh, about two inches apart; one hole in the bridge of his nose. He was about thirty years of age, sandy complexion, closely shaved with a small imperial, hair reddish, about five feet eight inches high, and powder-marks on his left leg and arm."

RUNAWAY.—On Thursday last our town was enlivened by a run-away. Messrs. Houck & Robinson started out on a sleigh-ride. They left town and drove out on the Spanish Ranch road. A short time after, Robinson was seen coming in alone, driving at a pretty brisk pace, and when he reached Main street, it was discovered that his horses were running away. He passed through town in safety, but when near the "lane" the sleigh struck some obstruction, and overboard went Mr. Robinson. The horses ran on until they reached a fence and stopped. Houck was cast overboard near Christmas's mill, and footed it back to town. But little damage was done.

Deaths.

At Westfield, Mass. October 22nd 1867. LANGDON KELLOGG, aged 73 years.

At Crescent Mills, on the night of Dec. 23, Susan, youngest daughter of Cyrus and Laura J. Laufman, aged two years and eight months. Calmly she sleeps 'neath the pure white snow, Placid she rests, free from care and woe, Bright image who lies of life innocence, And her spirit pure is wafted to eternal happiness.

Water Ditch Notice.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that I hereby notify all men from damaging or trespassing upon, or cutting down the banks of my ditch, or running tailings into the same.—The said ditch conveys water from Onion Valley Creek to Richmond Hill for mining purposes. I claim and own the original right to the surplus water below the ditch known as Doc. Hawker & Co's ditch. This right is claimed and has been since 1854, by O'Neal & Co. This ditch also takes water out of Little Onion Valley Flat, situated on the South side of Onion Valley Creek. The extension of this ditch runs south-west five hundred and fifty rods, more or less, to Cement Ravine. The dimensions of this ditch, when finished, will be two feet wide at the bottom, and four feet wide at the top, and two feet deep.

MARTIN HOGAN.
N. B.—This ditch is now known as the Hogan ditch.

Richmond Hill, Plumas Co., Cal., Dec. 6th, 1887. 6-4w

Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer

Derives much of its popularity from the simplicity attending its use, which gives it a peculiar value in a family. The various diseases which may be reached by it, and in their incipient stages eradicated, are among those which are peculiarly fatal if suffered to run; but the curative magic of this preparation, at once disarms them of their terrors. In all respects it fulfills the conditions of a popular medicine.

The "Biblical Recorder," in speaking of the Pain Killer, says:

"We believe the public generally have great confidence in this medicine. The numerous testimonials in its favor from well known clergymen and missionaries, are well calculated to convince any but the most skeptical. If there be any of our readers who still doubt touching the magic powers of Perry Davis' Pain Killer to relieve pain, we advise them to buy one bottle, and give it a trial. We never knew it to fail."
